

Prodipta Bhattacharyya is currently pursuing PhD from Jadavpur University in the Department of Pharmaceutical Technology under the guidance of Dr. Probir Kumar Ojha. She has completed her Master's degree in Pharmaceutical Chemistry from Jadavpur University. She qualified for the GPAT examination in 2023 and has gained over three years of research experience in the field. Her research interests include QSAR, molecular modeling, docking studies, toxicity modeling, and ecotoxicology. She has authored 8 publications in reputed international journals, including one featured on a cover page. Her work has received 33 citations with an h-index of 4, reflecting the growing impact of her contributions in computational and predictive toxicology.