

Vitaly Frolov is currently a post-graduate student of the Laboratory of Medicinal Chemistry at the Department of Chemistry of Lomonosov Moscow State University under supervision from D.A. Shulga. His current work is devoted to the development of polarizable empirical charge model for medicinal chemistry purposes. His scientific interests in chemistry are chemical effects in molecular modeling and atomic charge models.