

Shubha Das has completed his Master's degree in Pharmaceutical Chemistry from Jadavpur University. He qualified the GPAT and NIPER examinations in 2022 and has gained over three years of research experience in the field. His research interests include QSAR, molecular modeling, docking studies, toxicity modeling, and ecotoxicology. He is currently pursuing PhD. from the same department under the guidance of Dr. Probir Kumar Ojha. He has authored 10 publications in reputed international journals, including one featured on a cover page. His work has received 41 citations with an h-index of 4, reflecting the growing impact of his contributions in computational and predictive toxicology.